The Experts Say...

• Store each piece individually "Never double up items in a box or compartment," says Melanie Charlton Fascitelli, organizing expert and founder of Clos-ette.com. Chains will tangle and your jewelry can get scratched.

• Organize according to your lifestyle "Divide jewelry into categories that make sense to you," says Jordana Jaffe, founder of Liveorganized.com. Separate everyday pieces from fancy ones and what you wear for going out. If you're visual, try sorting by color or material.

• Try an easy D.I.Y. project Use a bulletin board to store necklaces, earrings and bracelets, says Jaffe. Just hang your pieces from pushpins!

• Handle fine jewelry with care Wipe off special pieces after each wear, using 100% cotton cloth, says Colleen Sherin, women's fashion director for Saks Fifth Avenue. Store them in their original boxes to keep them dust- and tarnish-free.
